Which Product is the best for you?

- Deciding whether to rent a motorhome, a car or a 4WD vehicle depends on several factors

Before you travel, ask yourself these questions ...

- Is my journey leisure or business related?
- Will I be predominantly city based or rurally based?
- What style of accommodation do I intend to have?
- Am I looking for freedom and an independent pace?

How did you answer these questions? Your answers will help you decide on many of your travel needs and preferences and which travel options to consider in your planning.

One of the main benefits of travelling by car or motorhome / RV is the chance to set your own pace and explore outside the mainstream.

City Style

If the focus of your holiday is urban and spending your time in city locations staying in hotels or other accommodation, then a car may be the best type of rental. When selecting a car take into account the number of passengers, the style of holiday you prefer, your luggage requirements and how you intend to utilise the car. A car suitable for the number of passengers is essential criteria in deciding which vehicle for rental.

When renting a city based car, you might also look for the opportunity to drive a more exotic car or a luxury car if you want to enjoy a bit of style!

City to City Touring

If you intend travelling by car from city to city then you should consider a larger car for leg-room and comfort and the need to transport luggage, especially on longer distances. Children need extra room as well as some activities they can pursue on longer trips. In Australia the distances between cities can be greater than you might expect and in summer, the weather can be hot so again, do a little pre-travel planning and research to assess your needs and the most suitable type of vehicle for your needs.

Wilderness Expeditions

A 4WD vehicle, which can include camping facilities, will be best for a holiday that involves visiting isolated, wilderness areas where normal vehicles cannot go. Your rental agreement will sometimes preclude you taking a normal car onto dirt roads or into particularly isolated, rugged areas. If you do take a 4WD vehicle into very isolated regions, ask for local advice at pickup, advise local police of your itinerary and enquire whether the rental company offers emergency beacons in case of breakdown or problems.

The Ultimate Package!

A motorhome rental allows you to package your transport and accommodation outlays into one cost and are ideal for family or group holidays. Motorhomes come in several sizes, from two-berth campers to larger six-berth vehicles, so you can choose the size of accommodation you need. You will not need a special license to drive most larger rental motorhomes. Motorhomes are equipped with kitchen and dining facilities, utensils, bedding and in larger vehicles, a shower and toilet. Most rental companies offer optional extras that will help enhance comfort and useability.

You'll find a well organised network of caravan parks offering accommodation, additional facilities and an ideal setting in which to base yourself for some local exploring.
